

Psalm 19

text by Jennifer Bell
after Cornelius Becker

music by Heinrich Schütz
(original in Eb)

1. The heav'ns, Lord, tell with de - light of your great and glo - rious might.
2. Day speaks to an - oth - er day, night to night their know-ledge say.

3
And the firm - a - ment makes known all your gra - cious hand has done.
Though their voic - es are not heard, God's praise sounds through all_ the world.

3. Bringing joy to earth, the sun
Rises up, his course to run,
As the son God calls his own
Comes forth to ascend His throne.

4. Forth from out his chamber there
To the royal hall so fair,
Now the champion, God and man,
Races o'er the heavens' span.

5. His path does the Lord ordain
To soar, then return again.
Nothing can escape his heat,
Climbing to the Father's seat.

6. May your word, Lord, richly share
Its rewards so great and rare.
And may we in fear and awe
Strive to keep your perfect law.
